

CIVIL-COMP LTD (Civil-Comp Press & Computational Technology Resources.info)
TRANSFER OF COPYRIGHT AGREEMENT

Scientific publishers and authors share a common interest in the protection of copyright: authors principally because they want their creative works to be protected from plagiarism and other unlawful uses, publishers because they need to protect their work and investment in the production, marketing and distribution of the article written by the author. In order to do so effectively, publishers need a formal written transfer of copyright from the author(s) for each article published. We therefore ask you to complete and return this form promptly, retaining a copy for your records. Your cooperation is essential and appreciated.

Article entitled:

Author(s):

To be published in a form to be specified by the publishers. Effective upon acceptance for publication, copyright (including all rights thereunder and the right to obtain copyright registration in the name of the publisher, whether separately or as a part of a book or otherwise) in the above article is hereby transferred throughout the world and for the full term and all extensions and renewals thereof to

CIVIL-COMP LTD (Civil-Comp Press & Computational Technology Resources.info)

This transfer includes the right to adapt the article for use in conjunction with computer systems and programs, including reproduction or publication in machine-readable form and incorporation in retrieval systems.

Rights of Authors:

Civil-Comp Limited recognizes the retention of the following rights by the author(s):

1. Patent and trademark rights and rights to any process or procedure described in the article.
2. The right to photocopy or make single electronic copies of the article for their own personal use, including for their classroom use, or for the personal use of colleagues, provided the copies are not offered for sale and are not distributed in a systematic way outside of their employing institution (e.g. via an e-mail list or public file server). Posting of the article on a secure network (not Accessible to the public) within the Author's institution is permitted.
3. The right, subsequent to publication, to use the article or any part thereof free of charge in a printed compilation of works of their own, such as collected writings or lecture notes.
4. The right, subsequent to publication, to use the article or any part thereof free of charge in any subsequent publication. (Authors are requested to cite the article with DOI in any further publication). For the avoidance of doubt the authors do not need to seek any further permission to re-use the article.

Note: All copies, paper or electronic, or other use of information must include and indication of the Civil-Comp Ltd copyright and a full citation of the publication source.

Authorship:

If the article was prepared jointly with author(s), the signing author has informed the co-author(s) of the terms of this copyright transfer and is signing on their behalf as their agent and represents that he or she is authorized to do so. Please confirm by checking the appropriate box following the signature line. The signing author shall bear the responsibility for designating the co-author(s) and must inform Civil-Comp Limited of any changes in authorship.

If copyright is held by the employer, the employer or an authorized representative of the employer must sign. If the author signs, it is understood that this is with the authorization of the employer and the employer's acceptance of the terms of the transfer. Please confirm by checking the appropriate box following the signature line.

Warranties:

The author(s) warrant(s) that the article is the author's original work and has not been published before. The author(s) warrant(s) that the article contains no libelous and other unlawful statements, and does not infringe on the rights of others.
